

Mary

One

She

One

so

When

Dimitri

He

After

Dimitri

Dimitri

He

Aleko

It

but

Dimitri

While

When

he

Its

Mary and

One of

She kept

One evening,

so it

When Dimitri

Dimitri at

He knew

After telling

Dimitri found

Dimitri immediately

He told

Aleko denied

It was but his

Dimitri apologized

While they

When he

he was

Its wool,

Mary and her

One of Mary's

She kept it

One evening, however,

so it was

When Dimitri came

Dimitri at once

He knew it

After telling several

Dimitri found out

Dimitri immediately went

He told him

Aleko denied taking

It was true

but his lamb

Dimitri apologized to

While they were

When he went

he was astonished

Its wool, which

Mary and her husband

One of Mary's prize

She kept it tied

One evening, however, the so it was obvious

When Dimitri came in

Dimitri at once set

He knew it would

After telling several of

Dimitri found out that

Dimitri immediately went to

He told him he

Aleko denied taking it

It was true that but his lamb was

Dimitri apologized to Aleko

While they were talking

When he went outside

he was astonished to

Its wool, which had

Mary and her husband Dimitri

One of Mary's prize possessions

She kept it tied to

One evening, however, the lamb

so it was obvious that

When Dimitri came in from

Dimitri at once set out

He knew it would not

After telling several of his

Dimitri found out that his

Dimitri immediately went to Aleko's

He told him he had

Aleko denied taking it and

It was true that he

but his lamb was black.

Dimitri apologized to Aleko for

While they were talking it

When he went outside half

he was astonished to find

Its wool, which had been

Mary and her husband Dimitri lived

One of Mary's prize possessions was

She kept it tied to a

One evening, however, the lamb was so it was obvious that the

When Dimitri came in from the Dimitri at once set out to

He knew it would not prove

After telling several of his friends

Dimitri found out that his neighbour,

Dimitri immediately went to Aleko's house

He told him he had better

Aleko denied taking it and led

It was true that he had but his lamb was black. Ashamed

Dimitri apologized to Aleko for having

While they were talking it began

When he went outside half an he was astonished to find that

Its wool, which had been dyed

Mary and her husband Dimitri lived in

One of Mary's prize possessions was a

She kept it tied to a tree

One evening, however, the lamb was missing.

so it was obvious that the lamb

When Dimitri came in from the fields,

Dimitri at once set out to find

He knew it would not prove difficult

After telling several of his friends about

Dimitri found out that his neighbour, Aleko,

Dimitri immediately went to Aleko's house and

He told him he had better return

Aleko denied taking it and led Dimitri

It was true that he had just but his lamb was black. Ashamed of Dimitri apologized to Aleko for having accused

While they were talking it began to

When he went outside half an hour he was astonished to find that the

Its wool, which had been dyed black,

Mary and her husband Dimitri lived in the

One of Mary's prize possessions was a little

She kept it tied to a tree in One evening, however, the lamb was missing. The so it was obvious that the lamb had

When Dimitri came in from the fields, his Dimitri at once set out to find the

He knew it would not prove difficult in

After telling several of his friends about the Dimitri found out that his neighbour, Aleko, had

Dimitri immediately went to Aleko's house and angrily

He told him he had better return it

Aleko denied taking it and led Dimitri into

It was true that he had just bought but his lamb was black. Ashamed of having

Dimitri apologized to Aleko for having accused him.

While they were talking it began to rain

When he went outside half an hour later, he was astonished to find that the little

Its wool, which had been dyed black, had

Mary and her husband Dimitri lived in the tiny

One of Mary's prize possessions was a little white

She kept it tied to a tree in a

One evening, however, the lamb was missing. The rope so it was obvious that the lamb had been

When Dimitri came in from the fields, his wife

Dimitri at once set out to find the thief.

He knew it would not prove difficult in such

After telling several of his friends about the theft,

Dimitri found out that his neighbour, Aleko, had suddenly

Dimitri immediately went to Aleko's house and angrily accused

He told him he had better return it or Aleko denied taking it and led Dimitri into his

It was true that he had just bought a but his lamb was black. Ashamed of having acted

Dimitri apologized to Aleko for having accused him.

While they were talking it began to rain and

When he went outside half an hour later, he was astonished to find that the little black

Its wool, which had been dyed black, had been

Mary and her husband Dimitri lived in the tiny village

One of Mary's prize possessions was a little white lamb

She kept it tied to a tree in a field

One evening, however, the lamb was missing. The rope had so it was obvious that the lamb had been stolen.

When Dimitri came in from the fields, his wife told

Dimitri at once set out to find the thief.

He knew it would not prove difficult in such a

After telling several of his friends about the theft,

Dimitri found out that his neighbour, Aleko, had suddenly acquired

Dimitri immediately went to Aleko's house and angrily accused him

He told him he had better return it or he

Aleko denied taking it and led Dimitri into his backyard.

It was true that he had just bought a lamb, but his lamb was black. Ashamed of having acted so

Dimitri apologized to Aleko for having accused him.

While they were talking it began to rain and Dimitri

When he went outside half an hour later, he was astonished to find that the little black lamb

Its wool, which had been dyed black, had been washed

Mary and her husband Dimitri lived in the tiny village of

One of Mary's prize possessions was a little white lamb which

She kept it tied to a tree in a field during

One evening, however, the lamb was missing. The rope had been

so it was obvious that the lamb had been stolen.

When Dimitri came in from the fields, his wife told him

Dimitri at once set out to find the thief.

He knew it would not prove difficult in such a small

After telling several of his friends about the theft,

Dimitri found out that his neighbour, Aleko, had suddenly acquired a Dimitri immediately went to Aleko's house and angrily accused him of

He told him he had better return it or he would

Aleko denied taking it and led Dimitri into his backyard.

It was true that he had just bought a lamb, he

but his lamb was black. Ashamed of having acted so rashly,

Dimitri apologized to Aleko for having accused him.

While they were talking it began to rain and Dimitri stayed

When he went outside half an hour later, he was astonished to find that the little black lamb was

Its wool, which had been dyed black, had been washed clean

Mary and her husband Dimitri lived in the tiny village of Perachora

One of Mary's prize possessions was a little white lamb which her

She kept it tied to a tree in a field during the

One evening, however, the lamb was missing. The rope had been cut,

so it was obvious that the lamb had been stolen.

When Dimitri came in from the fields, his wife told him what

Dimitri at once set out to find the thief.

He knew it would not prove difficult in such a small village.

After telling several of his friends about the theft,

Dimitri found out that his neighbour, Aleko, had suddenly acquired a new

Dimitri immediately went to Aleko's house and angrily accused him of stealing

He told him he had better return it or he would call

Aleko denied taking it and led Dimitri into his backyard.

It was true that he had just bought a lamb, he explained,

but his lamb was black. Ashamed of having acted so rashly,

Dimitri apologized to Aleko for having accused him.

While they were talking it began to rain and Dimitri stayed in

When he went outside half an hour later, he was astonished to find that the little black lamb was almost

Its wool, which had been dyed black, had been washed clean by

Mary and her husband Dimitri lived in the tiny village of Perachora in

One of Mary's prize possessions was a little white lamb which her husband

She kept it tied to a tree in a field during the day

One evening, however, the lamb was missing. The rope had been cut,

so it was obvious that the lamb had been stolen.

When Dimitri came in from the fields, his wife told him what had

Dimitri at once set out to find the thief.

He knew it would not prove difficult in such a small village.

After telling several of his friends about the theft,

Dimitri found out that his neighbour, Aleko, had suddenly acquired a new lamb.

Dimitri immediately went to Aleko's house and angrily accused him of stealing the

He told him he had better return it or he would call the

Aleko denied taking it and led Dimitri into his backyard.

It was true that he had just bought a lamb, he explained,

but his lamb was black. Ashamed of having acted so rashly,

Dimitri apologized to Aleko for having accused him.

While they were talking it began to rain and Dimitri stayed in Aleko's

When he went outside half an hour later,

he was astonished to find that the little black lamb was almost white.

Its wool, which had been dyed black, had been washed clean by the

Mary and her husband Dimitri lived in the tiny village of Perachora in southern

One of Mary's prize possessions was a little white lamb which her husband had

She kept it tied to a tree in a field during the day and

One evening, however, the lamb was missing. The rope had been cut,

so it was obvious that the lamb had been stolen.

When Dimitri came in from the fields, his wife told him what had happened.

Dimitri at once set out to find the thief.

He knew it would not prove difficult in such a small village.

After telling several of his friends about the theft,

Dimitri found out that his neighbour, Aleko, had suddenly acquired a new lamb.

Dimitri immediately went to Aleko's house and angrily accused him of stealing the lamb.

He told him he had better return it or he would call the police.

Aleko denied taking it and led Dimitri into his backyard.

It was true that he had just bought a lamb, he explained,

but his lamb was black. Ashamed of having acted so rashly,

Dimitri apologized to Aleko for having accused him.

While they were talking it began to rain and Dimitri stayed in Aleko's house

When he went outside half an hour later,

he was astonished to find that the little black lamb was almost white.

Its wool, which had been dyed black, had been washed clean by the rain!

Mary and her husband Dimitri lived in the tiny village of Perachora in southern Greece.

One of Mary's prize possessions was a little white lamb which her husband had given

She kept it tied to a tree in a field during the day and went

One evening, however, the lamb was missing. The rope had been cut,

so it was obvious that the lamb had been stolen.

When Dimitri came in from the fields, his wife told him what had happened.

Dimitri at once set out to find the thief.

He knew it would not prove difficult in such a small village.

After telling several of his friends about the theft,

Dimitri found out that his neighbour, Aleko, had suddenly acquired a new lamb.

Dimitri immediately went to Aleko's house and angrily accused him of stealing the lamb.

He told him he had better return it or he would call the police.

Aleko denied taking it and led Dimitri into his backyard.

It was true that he had just bought a lamb, he explained,

but his lamb was black. Ashamed of having acted so rashly,

Dimitri apologized to Aleko for having accused him.

While they were talking it began to rain and Dimitri stayed in Aleko's house until

When he went outside half an hour later,

he was astonished to find that the little black lamb was almost white.

Its wool, which had been dyed black, had been washed clean by the rain!

Mary and her husband Dimitri lived in the tiny village of Perachora in southern Greece.

One of Mary's prize possessions was a little white lamb which her husband had given her.

She kept it tied to a tree in a field during the day and went to

One evening, however, the lamb was missing. The rope had been cut,

so it was obvious that the lamb had been stolen.

When Dimitri came in from the fields, his wife told him what had happened.

Dimitri at once set out to find the thief.

He knew it would not prove difficult in such a small village.

After telling several of his friends about the theft,

Dimitri found out that his neighbour, Aleko, had suddenly acquired a new lamb.

Dimitri immediately went to Aleko's house and angrily accused him of stealing the lamb.

He told him he had better return it or he would call the police.

Aleko denied taking it and led Dimitri into his backyard.

It was true that he had just bought a lamb, he explained,

but his lamb was black. Ashamed of having acted so rashly,

Dimitri apologized to Aleko for having accused him.

While they were talking it began to rain and Dimitri stayed in Aleko's house until the

When he went outside half an hour later,

he was astonished to find that the little black lamb was almost white.

Its wool, which had been dyed black, had been washed clean by the rain!

Mary and her husband Dimitri lived in the tiny village of Perachora in southern Greece.

One of Mary's prize possessions was a little white lamb which her husband had given her.

She kept it tied to a tree in a field during the day and went to fetch

One evening, however, the lamb was missing. The rope had been cut,

so it was obvious that the lamb had been stolen.

When Dimitri came in from the fields, his wife told him what had happened.

Dimitri at once set out to find the thief.

He knew it would not prove difficult in such a small village.

After telling several of his friends about the theft,

Dimitri found out that his neighbour, Aleko, had suddenly acquired a new lamb.

Dimitri immediately went to Aleko's house and angrily accused him of stealing the lamb.

He told him he had better return it or he would call the police.

Aleko denied taking it and led Dimitri into his backyard.

It was true that he had just bought a lamb, he explained,

but his lamb was black. Ashamed of having acted so rashly,

Dimitri apologized to Aleko for having accused him.

While they were talking it began to rain and Dimitri stayed in Aleko's house until the rain

When he went outside half an hour later,

he was astonished to find that the little black lamb was almost white.

Its wool, which had been dyed black, had been washed clean by the rain!

Mary and her husband Dimitri lived in the tiny village of Perachora in southern Greece.

One of Mary's prize possessions was a little white lamb which her husband had given her.

She kept it tied to a tree in a field during the day and went to fetch it

One evening, however, the lamb was missing. The rope had been cut,

so it was obvious that the lamb had been stolen.

When Dimitri came in from the fields, his wife told him what had happened.

Dimitri at once set out to find the thief.

He knew it would not prove difficult in such a small village.

After telling several of his friends about the theft,

Dimitri found out that his neighbour, Aleko, had suddenly acquired a new lamb.

Dimitri immediately went to Aleko's house and angrily accused him of stealing the lamb.

He told him he had better return it or he would call the police.

Aleko denied taking it and led Dimitri into his backyard.

It was true that he had just bought a lamb, he explained,

but his lamb was black. Ashamed of having acted so rashly,

Dimitri apologized to Aleko for having accused him.

While they were talking it began to rain and Dimitri stayed in Aleko's house until the rain stopped.

When he went outside half an hour later,

he was astonished to find that the little black lamb was almost white.

Its wool, which had been dyed black, had been washed clean by the rain!

Mary and her husband Dimitri lived in the tiny village of Perachora in southern Greece.

One of Mary's prize possessions was a little white lamb which her husband had given her.

She kept it tied to a tree in a field during the day and went to fetch it every

One evening, however, the lamb was missing. The rope had been cut,

so it was obvious that the lamb had been stolen.

When Dimitri came in from the fields, his wife told him what had happened.

Dimitri at once set out to find the thief.

He knew it would not prove difficult in such a small village.

After telling several of his friends about the theft,

Dimitri found out that his neighbour, Aleko, had suddenly acquired a new lamb.

Dimitri immediately went to Aleko's house and angrily accused him of stealing the lamb.

He told him he had better return it or he would call the police.

Aleko denied taking it and led Dimitri into his backyard.

It was true that he had just bought a lamb, he explained,

but his lamb was black. Ashamed of having acted so rashly,

Dimitri apologized to Aleko for having accused him.

While they were talking it began to rain and Dimitri stayed in Aleko's house until the rain stopped.

When he went outside half an hour later,

he was astonished to find that the little black lamb was almost white.

Its wool, which had been dyed black, had been washed clean by the rain!

Mary and her husband Dimitri lived in the tiny village of Perachora in southern Greece.

One of Mary's prize possessions was a little white lamb which her husband had given her.

She kept it tied to a tree in a field during the day and went to fetch it every evening.

One evening, however, the lamb was missing. The rope had been cut,

so it was obvious that the lamb had been stolen.

When Dimitri came in from the fields, his wife told him what had happened.

Dimitri at once set out to find the thief.

He knew it would not prove difficult in such a small village.

After telling several of his friends about the theft,

Dimitri found out that his neighbour, Aleko, had suddenly acquired a new lamb.

Dimitri immediately went to Aleko's house and angrily accused him of stealing the lamb.

He told him he had better return it or he would call the police.

Aleko denied taking it and led Dimitri into his backyard.

It was true that he had just bought a lamb, he explained,

but his lamb was black. Ashamed of having acted so rashly,

Dimitri apologized to Aleko for having accused him.

While they were talking it began to rain and Dimitri stayed in Aleko's house until the rain stopped.

When he went outside half an hour later,

he was astonished to find that the little black lamb was almost white.

Its wool, which had been dyed black, had been washed clean by the rain!